PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL

The design of the School is to afford a practical and scientific education in the principles of General Jurisprudence.

The System of Equity Jurisprudence.

The Course for the degree of Bachelor of Laws will cover three years.

SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION

THE CASE SYSTEM IS FOLLOWED

The School in the beginning used the text-book method of instruction, but, after one year, abandoned this method in favor of the case system, which has ever since been used in the School with constantly increasing success. Under this system, carefully selected collections of cases are used as the basis of instruction, and certain of these cases are assigned each day for study. The students who have studied these cases are required to state the facts of each case, the decision reached therein by the court, and the reasons for that decision. The class and the instructor then discuss the decision, and consider whether the given case was rightly decided, and, if so, what principles of law it establishes. The instructor then requires the class to apply these principles to new and different sets of facts, and thus gives the students practice in the art of applying law to varying conditions of fact.

The main objects, then, of the case system of instruction are to teach the student to deduce legal principles from reported cases, and also to teach him to apply these principles to other cases, and thus to develop in him the power of legal reasoning through the use of the actual decisions of the courts. By this method the student learns from the very beginning to do the kind of work which every lawyer must do in actual practice, and thus receives the very best preparation for actual work at the bar. Moreover, the student who studies law under the case system has the great advantage of studying cases under the guidance and direction of a teacher, an advantage which no student can secure in a law office for two reasons: first, because the practicing lawyer is too busy to occupy himself with the work of teaching; and second, because, ordinarily, such a lawyer has had no experience in teaching, even if he had the necessary time to devote to it.

The School, after having tried both the text-book and the case system of instruction, has found that the case system possesses many advantages over the text-book system. The following are some of the chief advantages of the case system:

1. The case system begins the study of the law with actual reported cases decided in the courts. The bulk of our system of law falls into two main subdivisions. (1) Law which is to be found in the decisions of the courts. (2) Law which is created by statutes. Even a statute, however, can rarely be understood without referring to decided cases; for a statute is frequently nothing but a codification of a rule of law previously established by such decided cases. Moreover, even where the statute creates a wholly new rule of law, it frequently has questions arising as to its meaning and effect, and the answer to these questions cannot be found save in the reported cases which have decided them. Indeed, it may be asserted that nothing is law unless the courts recognize and enforce it as such in the cases which they decide. It therefore follows that such cases are the final and authoritative sources to which we must look to find the law.

Each case decided by the highest court of any jurisdiction settles the law for that jurisdiction on the point involved in that case. Such a case becomes a precedent which the lower courts of that jurisdiction are bound to follow, and cases establishing such precedents are but rarely overruled by the higher courts which decided them. A decision therefore (not overruled) of the highest court of any jurisdiction on any question is the law of that jurisdiction. A text-book, on the other hand, is usually a brief restatement of the principles of law which the author of the text-book believes to have been established by such decisions. A decided case has authority in a law court; a text-book has no authority whatsoever as law, but is ordinarily used merely as a means of finding the names of certain cases bearing on some point of law, or at most the views of the author as to the soundness of such cases, it being well understood that courts and lawyers must go to the cases themselves to find out what the law actually is.
Under the case system, therefore, the student has the great advantage of learning the law at first-hand, a thing which he can never do from any text-book.

2. The case system stimulates the power of the student to investigate and reason, instead of tending to make him rely upon mere memory, which is the tendency where a text-book is used.

3. The case system gives the student from the very start practice in reading and analyzing cases, an art which is absolutely indispensable to the practicing lawyer, and which the student is not likely to acquire under the text-book system until after he enters the bar. On this point, a distinguished lawyer who, though trained under the text-book system, adopted the case system after he became a teacher of the law, told his pupils that the case system taught the students to do work in the law school which those who were trained under the old system were obliged to learn to do after they became practitioners.

4. The case system is a far more interesting system of instruction, both to student and teacher, than the text-book system. This is because the case system does not deal with mere abstract principles, but teaches these principles in a vivid and realistic manner in connection with actual sets of facts. In this way alone can the student be made to realize from the start that the law is a living thing, and not a dead, mechanical set of rules.

5. The case system gives the student, to a degree that no other system does, the power to apply the law to various sets of facts—a power which constitutes the very essence of a true lawyer.

The School has in its Faculty some law teachers who were trained under the case system of instruction, and others who were trained under the text-book system; and the unanimous verdict of both these classes of teachers is that the case system of instruction is the best existing method of studying and teaching the law. The School is confident that all students of the law who are desirous of cultivating the power to reason, instead of a mere parrot-like use of the memory, and who wish to possess real knowledge and power as opposed to a mere appearance of knowledge without real power, will find in the case system of instruction the best means of mastering the law.

Although the aim of the School is to train its students so that they may be qualified to practice law in any common law jurisdiction, especial care is taken throughout the course to indicate in each subject the peculiarities of the law of New York. Particular attention is called to the following courses, which have special bearing on the New York law:

1. Common Law and Code Pleading.—In this course the principles of common law and code pleading are taught, and the chief similarities and differences between the common law pleading and the code pleading (which is in force in New York) are fully explained.

2. New York Civil Practice.—This course embraces a thorough study of the New York Civil Practice Act, as well as practical work in the drawing of pleadings and papers in civil actions and special proceedings.

A comprehensive course in Pure Jurisprudence is conducted, which deals with the fundamental ethical concepts, the general principles which form the basis of law, as well as its juridical and genetic origin.

It is believed that the courses of the School are so arranged as to unite a sound training in the fundamental principles of the law with a training in the practical application of these principles to actual legal work.

Courses in New Jersey Practice and Connecticut Practice respectively are given throughout the year. Either of these courses may be substituted for the New York Practice course by third year students; and, by arrangement with the Registrar, all students may take either of these courses specially, provided there be no conflict with regular courses.

COMMENCEMENT

The Annual Commencement of the University will be held at Fordham on Thursday, June 15, 1922.

ACADEMIC YEAR

The first half of the Academic Year 1922-1923 will begin on Thursday, September 28, 1922, and end Wednesday, January 31, 1923. The second half will begin Thursday, February 1, 1923, and end Tuesday, June 12, 1923. Recitations will be suspended on all legal holidays, the Friday following Thanksgiving Day, All Saints' Day (Nov. 1), Immaculate Conception (Dec. 8), and Ascension Day (May 10).

The Christmas Recess will begin after the close of lectures on Friday, December 22, 1922, and classes will regularly be resumed on Tuesday, January 2, 1923; the Easter Recess will begin after lectures on Wednesday, March 28, 1923, and classes will regularly be resumed on Tuesday, April 3, 1923.

Matriculation in course is not permitted in the second semester. Special students, however, may register for courses which are conducted during the second semester only.

The school does not conduct any courses during the summer.

STUDIES REQUIRED FOR DEGREE

Every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Laws will be required to take all the subjects of the three years, except that third year students may elect any one of the three Practice Courses; to all other students these three courses are extra. A graduation fee of Fifteen Dollars is charged.

The Law School is open to both sexes. Students will not be registered under abbreviated or colloquial forms of recognized names. The registered name of the student will be adhered to in all certificates and degrees of the school, except in cases of obvious error, or upon presentation of a certified copy of a Supreme Court order, permitting a change of name. Applicants for degrees must be at least eighteen years of age upon entering the first year course, must be of good moral character and must present:

(a) A certificate of graduation from a University or College approved by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York; or,

(b) A law student's certificate issued by the Board of Regents at Albany; such certificate is issued to graduates of recognized high schools, and to all applicants passing the Regents' examinations in subjects equivalent to the courses of such high schools.

The Department of Education issues each year a booklet known as Handbook 27, which contains full information as to the institutions recognized by the Regents and the courses which will be accepted as equivalents. Copies may be obtained by application at the School.

EXAMINATIONS

Examination is held at the completion of each subject, as an essential part thereof: class room work, as far as practicable, is also a determinant of general standing. Excessive absence from lectures will bar the student from examination.

Hours of examination will be from 9.30 a. m. to 12.30 p. m., and from 4 p. m. to 7 p. m. for all classes.

Failed, or omitted, examinations aggregating more than two major courses will necessitate repetition of the full year. Notice of intention to repeat must be given by the student before August 25, that a place may be reserved in the class room for the following year.

Failed, or omitted, examinations aggregating not more than two major courses may be retaken at the next conditional examinations in the week of Labor Day, and if then failed, necessitates repetition of the subject; failure or omission after such repetition terminates the student's attendance at the school.

Special examinations will be held in all conditioned subjects, on the five days immediately following Labor Day. A fee of Five Dollars is charged for each conditioned examination.

All examinations once taken or offered at the end of the third year, whether in regular course, or to remove conditions, are conclusive in their results for that school year.

LAW LIBRARY

The library is now housed in the northerly wing of our quarters, with steady natural light by day, and the most modern system of shaded artificial light for evening work.

The location of the space, on the twenty-eighth floor, looking north and west, with an unbroken view for many miles, and with quiet assured by the height above the street and the solid walls separating the library from the other rooms, all contribute to its attractiveness.

The library is open throughout the year to the students of the law school and its alumni after 10 A. M.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Arrangements will be made with students who desire to pursue specially one or more courses at regular lecture hours.

PRIZES

In each class the student attaining the highest average in recitations and examinations will be awarded a prize of fifty dollars ($50.00) in gold.

The William Mack Prize of the American Law Book Company, comprising the published volumes of "Corpus Juris," supplemented by "CYC," is awarded to the student of each class showing the greatest proficiency in research work in these volumes.

The Central Book Company's prize of "Bouvier's Law Dictionary," is awarded to the student of each class having the highest general average in class work.
ADMISSION TO THE NEW YORK BAR

The New York State Bar examinations are open at once to all graduates of this school who are citizens of the United States and for six months actual residents of this State.

Successful bar examination candidates who hold an academic degree of a recognized college, are entitled to license to practice in this State, upon satisfying the requirements of the Character Committee. All successful bar examination candidates who do not hold such academic degree, must, before being licensed to practice, furnish proof to the Character Committee, of a further calendar year of clerkship in the office of a practicing attorney.

FEES

A matriculation fee of Five Dollars is payable upon registration. The fee for instruction is One Hundred and Fifty Dollars per annum, payable one-half on entrance and the balance on February 1 following.

A University fee of Five Dollars per annum is charged to all students, payable at the beginning of the academic year.

No degree is granted or certificate of attendance issued to any student who has not paid all fees due from him to the School, and no student of any class will be permitted to attend recitations or examinations who is in default more than two weeks in the payment of any such fee.

COST OF LIVING

The School does not maintain a boarding department, but information as to where board and rooms can be obtained on such terms as each student desires to pay will be furnished on application.

HOURS OF INSTRUCTION

Classes from Monday to Friday, inclusive

The school now has three divisions, the morning division, the afternoon division, and the evening division; the work of all divisions is identical. The morning division, which was initiated in September, 1921, with a first year class, will be developed in September, 1922, into first and second year classes, and in September, 1923, will conduct the full three years' curriculum.
Once registered in a given session of the school, a student may not transfer, during the scholastic year, to any other session, e. g., a student registered in the morning session may not transfer to the afternoon.

No student may absent himself from one session and supply his absences by presence in another session.

Morning School.—Classes will be held on every week-day, except Saturday, commencing at 9.30 A. M.

Afternoon School.—First Year Classes will be held on every week-day, except Saturday, commencing at 2 o'clock P. M. Second and Third Year Classes, commencing at 4.15 P. M.

Evening School.—First Year Classes will be held in the evening of every week-day, except Saturday, commencing at 6 o'clock P. M. Second and Third Year Classes, commencing at 7 o'clock P. M.

Class hours are subject to change at the discretion of the faculty.

For the order of lectures in all sessions of the school, the schedule may be consulted.

The school quarters are open to students on Saturdays.

CLASS IN PUBLIC SPEAKING

Professor Carmody has instituted, under the auspices of the Law School, but not as part of the official curriculum, a class in Public Speaking, limited to not more than twenty-five members; preference is at present given to third year students.

Class hours are ordinarily on Saturday afternoon, and the syllabus of work is the following: "Effective arrangement and delivery of arguments before courts and addresses to juries. Auditory analysis and logical sequence compared and correlated. Voice diagnosis and training."

In order to afford opportunity to as many as possible of the third year students, the class in Public Speaking will be completed in the first semester and repeated in the second.
