From the Executive Director

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2020 updated issue of “Capital Region Connections.” Formerly titled, “On Your Own,” this directory of free or low-cost human and legal services and related criminal justice information, remains significantly helpful to those directly impacted by the criminal justice system. Those interested in self-advocacy have found it invaluable in their search for justice and self-improvement. Our Center distributes close to 2,000 copies of the directory to those incarcerated and community residents. Because each copy is shared with others, it is estimated that more than 6,000 people read and use updated “Connections.”

The year 2020 will be a special time for the Center for Law and Justice. It will mark the 35th anniversary of our work as a community-based organization devoted to significant change in our criminal and juvenile justice systems. Throughout those years, we have seen some positive changes that include a significant reduction in the state’s prison population, the demise of New York’s death penalty law, reform of the Rockefeller Drug Laws, the adoption of community policing in a number of jurisdictions, and the growing leadership and involvement in change efforts by those directly impacted by the justice system. Most recently, we witnessed the passage of raise the age legislation that removes our juveniles from adult prison confinement and towards zero youth detention.

Great optimism exists that the Center’s long collaboration and work with a number of criminal justice reform organizations and groups will result in major changes that the New York Legislature and Governor have endorsed. Those changes now in the FY 2020 Enacted Budget include: reforms to bail and arrest procedures to reduce pretrial incarceration; measures to ensure the right to speedy trial and transformation of the discovery process; renovations in the use of solitary confinement in state prisons; a comprehensive re-entry package that could improve outcomes for formerly incarcerated persons; and closures of additional prisons.

The Center remains strongly committed to reducing mass incarceration and state and local over-reliance upon imprisonment, eliminating racial disparities that exist throughout the criminal justice system, and calling for an official recognition of and commitment to reducing and repairing the enormous harm and damage done to people of color through the state’s racist and ineffective criminal justice policies.

The Center is proud of its many accomplishments of service to the community for so long. But, recognition and thanks must be given to our dedicated staff, volunteers, interns, and financial donors and supporters.
Dedication and Inspiration
The 2020 “Connections” is dedicated to three giants who fought for freedom, social justice and reform of the criminal justice system.

Vera “Mike” Michelson
On March 9, 2019, all those who knew Vera “Mike” Michelson and care about justice, lost a dear friend and revolutionary. Mike devoted her precious life to the fight against violence, bigotry, racism, apartheid, and other forms of oppression, not only in New York, but around the world including Cuba and South Africa. Mike was a lifetime activist and community organizer.

In Albany, her social activism spanned more than 50 years. Her support for the civil rights group, the Brothers; the founding of the Capital District Coalition Against Apartheid and Racism; and her organized protests in Albany against the U.S tour of the South African Springboks rugby team are legendary. More recently, she became extremely interested in and passionate about her work to reform the criminal justice system. To that end, she worked with the Albany LEAD (Law Enforcement Assisted Diversion) program, Urban Grief, and R.O.O.T.S, Inc., a reentry program for people who had been incarcerated.

John “Jay” Coleman
John G. "Jay" Coleman drew on his experience and capacity for love to assist others both while he was incarcerated and after he returned. Through formal programs and informal interactions, Jay helped people be the best they could be. While in prison, he worked with the New York State Defenders Association (NYSDA) Client Advisory Board on Client-Centered Representation Standards. The goal was to describe what lawyers should do to truly help their clients. After 25 years inside, he worked at a variety of organizations assisting newly-released people. In 2014, he joined the NYSDA staff, where he developed and implemented the Prisoner Pre-Entry Mentoring Project (PPMP). As a PPMP mentor, he worked with prison-bound clients, helping them plan to use their time inside productively to help ensure successful reentry. He continued that work until his death on Mar. 27, 2019. He is missed by all who knew him.

Johnathan Gradess

Jonathan Gradess was a close friend and ally of the Center for Law and Justice. “Born in New York City, he was a member of the charter class of Hofstra University Law School and spent his entire professional career seeking justice for the downtrodden and disenfranchised among us. For 39 years he was the executive director of the N.Y.S. Defenders Association in Albany and happily retired in 2017. He believed that everyone charged with a crime was entitled the best legal representation and he worked every day toward that end. During his career, he served on many boards and committees including Equal Justice USA, New Yorkers Against the Death Penalty, and the Commission on Restorative Justice of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Albany. He worked tirelessly to abolish the death penalty in New York and throughout the United States. After listening to the stories of the many Forgotten Victims of Attica (the prison employees killed or injured during the uprising), he joined their crusade and took their demands to the legislature and the Governor. While a member of St. Henry's Parish in Averill Park, he started a program to provide furniture to recovering addicts taking the next step in their lives.” Jonathan Gradess died on Oct. 2, 2019 at his home near Albany. He was 72. – Albany Times Union/Legacy.com
Support and Grants

This resource guide was made possible by a grant from The Albany County Legislature.
Center Mission
The Center no longer engages in client management services but makes referrals to other service centers in the community. The Center for Law and Justice envisions a peaceful, just and compassionate community and works to ensure, through advocacy and programs that each resident is provided access to the goods, services and opportunities of that community. It also works to establish the fair and just treatment of all people throughout the civil and criminal justice systems and works to reduce reliance upon incarceration.

Introduction
Although in principle, all citizens are entitled to the same rights regardless of income, it is clear that those with monetary means tend to have greater access to important legal information and resources. Simply getting an answer to a specific legal question is a frustrating experience for many and for others an impossible task. It is difficult enough to retain the “right” lawyer or find a suitable resource, but to obtain the services for free or at reduced cost is often impossible.

This annotated directory and legal information guide offers community residents, specifically those convicted of a crime and those returning from jail or prison, a variety of legal information and a listing of public and private resources and legal services that are available in the Capital District of New York and are free of charge or offered at a reduced cost.

Acknowledgments
“Connections” was written, researched, designed, and edited by many staff members, volunteers and interns at the Center for Law and Justice. Special thanks to: Antoine Hendy, Schyla Silburn, Mia Nilo, Lauren Manning, and Mary Ellen Freiberg for editing and updating the current edition.

Preface
This directory is aimed at those who do not have the luxury of retaining a “family lawyer” to call upon when in need of legal assistance, criminal justice information, or available human services. Please be advised that this directory is not intended to replace the professional services of a good lawyer or other professional community providers.

Securing Identification

Birth Certificate

Most employers require at least one form of identification for employment. In order to obtain a license or Social Security card, you need a certified copy of your birth certificate. It often takes several months to obtain a new birth certificate by mail (See 3), so you should request one immediately following your release from jail or prison. You may also apply for a birth certificate shortly before your release by asking a pre-release coordinator to submit an official request, on letterhead, in conjunction with your application.

1. For someone born in New York City:
   Obtain a Birth Certificate application form from:

   NYC Office of Vital Records
   125 Worth St., Room 133
   New York, NY 10013
   Phone: (212) 788-4500

   Or, download an application form at:
   http://tinyurl.com/vitalrecordnyc Include the following with your completed application and mail all to the NYC Office of Vital Records address, above.

   • Identification Requirements: A copy of a signed, valid photo ID of the person named on the certificate. If photo ID is unavailable, submit two proofs of name and address, such as a utility bill or an entitlement award letter from a government agency. These identification requirements may change, so check a current application form.

   • Fees: Send a check or money order payable to the NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, at a cost of $15 plus $8.30 for shipping and handling per certificate. DO NOT SEND CASH.

   • A self-addressed, stamped envelope.
2. For someone born in New York State outside of New York City:
   Obtain a Birth Certificate application form from:

   NYS Vital Records
   Certification Unit, Vital Records
   800 N. Pearl Street,
   Menands, NY 12204
   Phone: (855) 322-1022

   Or, download a copy of the application from:
   http://tinyurl.com/vitalrecord

   a. Identification Requirements: Subject to change. Check a current application before submission.

   i. One (1) of the following forms of valid photo-ID
      - Driver’s license
      - Non-driver Photo ID
      - Passport
      - Other government issued photo-ID

   ii. Two (2) of the following showing the applicant’s name and address:
      - Utility or telephone bills
      - Letter from a government agency dated within the last six (6) months

   b. Fees: There is a fee of $30.00 per birth certificate copy by mail order, $45.00 by phone or internet. Payment of mail order copies may be made by check or money order payable to the New York State Department of Health - Do not send cash.

3. City Clerk/ Vital Statistics
   City of Albany Vital Statistics
   24 Eagle Street #254M
   Albany, NY 12207
   (518) 434-5045

   For Albany Med, Albany Memorial and St. Peter’s Hospitals

   To obtain certificate request form have inmate write and sign a letter allowing a person to get certificate. Take signed request form and letter to city or town clerk where inmate was born. There is a fee of $10.

Troy City Vital Records
1 Monument Sq.
Troy, NY 12180
(518) 270-4587

For all smaller areas please see city, town or village clerk.

Obtaining a Social Security Card
To obtain a Social Security Card, call the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Social Security Administration at: 1-800-772-1213.
Or, you can find an application at www.socialsecurity.gov/online/ss-5.html or visit a local office.

1. Proof of identity is required. The following forms of Identification are acceptable:

- Driver’s license or Passport
- Employee ID card/Student ID card
- Health insurance card (not Medicare)
- State issued non-driver ID card
- U.S. Military ID card
- Photo Benefit Card

Obtaining a New York State Driver’s License
To obtain a driver’s license, you must complete an MV-44 form; download online at www.dmv.ny.gov/forms/mv44.pdf or at any DMV office.

To obtain a license, you must appear at a Motor Vehicle Department (DMV) office with proofs of name and date of birth. For proof of name and date of birth, four “points of proof” and a social security card are needed. “Points of proof” include birth certificate, naturalization papers, foreign passport, resident card, etc. Without a social security card, six “points of proof” are necessary. All points of proof must be original documents, one of which must contain a signature and seal for birth certificate. An eye test is required, which can be done at the Motor Vehicle office.

Obtaining a Non-Driver Photo ID Card
A person of any age who does not have or want a driver’s license may apply to the DMV for a non-driver photo ID. It is required that you provide four “points of proof” and a social security card. If you cannot provide a social security card, 6 “points of proof” are required. “Points of proof” include birth certificate, naturalization papers, foreign passport, resident card, etc. All points of proof must be original documents, one of which must contain a signature and seal for birth certificate. You can apply for a non-driver photo ID if your NYS driver’s license has been revoked or suspended. The photo ID contains the same personal information that a driver’s license contains. There is still a fee for the non-driver photo.
Parole

“There are more African Americans under correctional control, in prison or jail, on probation or parole, than were enslaved in 1850 a decade before the civil war began.”

-Michelle Alexander
Parole Overview
The information contained in this part is provided by the New York State Parole Handbook: Questions and Answers Concerning Parole Release and Supervision (Nov. 2010).

Upon release from prison on parole, unless otherwise instructed, you should report in person with your certificate of release within twenty-four hours to the area office listed on your release papers. If time or distance makes it impossible to report within twenty-four hours, you must telephone the area office to inform them of your special circumstances.

General Conditions of Parole
“General Conditions of Parole” apply to everyone who is on parole. In addition to these general conditions, there may be special conditions that apply to you. You are responsible for complying with all conditions of parole, both general and special. General conditions are as follows:

- Proceed directly to the area to which you have been released and, within twenty-four hours of release, make an arrival report to the Division of Parole, unless otherwise instructed.

- Make office and/or written reports as directed.

- Do not leave the state to which you are released without permission of your parole officer.

- Permit your parole officer to visit your residence and/or place of employment and permit the search and inspection of your person, residence, and property. Discuss any proposed changes in residence, employment, or program status with your Parole Officer. Notify your Parole Officer of any changes in your residence, employment, or program status when circumstances beyond your control make prior discussion impossible.
• Reply promptly, fully, and truthfully to any inquiry of, or communication by, your Parole Officer or other representative of the Division of Parole.

• Notify your Parole Officer immediately any time you have any contact with, or arrested by, any law enforcement agency.

• Do not be in the company of, or fraternize with any person you know to have a criminal record or whom you know to have been adjudicated a Youthful Offender, except for accidental encounters in public places, work, school, or in any other instance, without permission of your Parole Officer.

• Do not behave in such a manner as to violate the provisions of any law to which you are subject which provides for a penalty of imprisonment, nor behave in a way that threatens the safety or well-being of yourself or others.

• Do not own, possess, or purchase any shotgun, rifle, or firearm of any type without the written permission of your Parole Officer. In addition, do not own, possess, or purchase any dangerous instrument or deadly weapon as defined in the Penal Law or any dangerous knife, dirk, razor, stiletto, or imitation pistol. Additionally, do not own, possess, or purchase any instrument readily capable of causing physical injury without a satisfactory explanation for ownership, possession, or purchase.

• In the event that you leave the jurisdiction of the state to which you were released, you waive the right to resist extradition back to the state of release. This waiver shall be in full force and effect until you are discharged from Parole or Conditional Release. You are to fully understand that you have the right under the Constitution of the United States and under state law to contest any effort to extradite you from another state and return you to the state of release, and you freely and knowingly waive this right as a condition of your Parole or Conditional Release.

- Do not use or possess any drug paraphernalia or use or possess any controlled substance without proper medical authorization.
- Special Conditions: (as specified by the Board of Parole, Parole Officer or another authorized representative).

- Comply fully with the instructions of your Parole Officer and obey any special additional written conditions which he/she, the Board of Parole, or Division of Parole, may impose.

Special Conditions of Supervision
Although the general conditions of parole apply to all those under supervision, the Board of Parole, a Facility Parole Officer or your Field Parole Officer can add additional conditions that apply specifically to you and to your situation. It might be a curfew, a prohibition against drinking or associating with specific individuals, or a prohibition against being in a specific area.

If the Board of Parole imposes a special condition, only the Board can remove it. If your Parole Officer imposes a special condition, then he or she can remove it.

Special conditions, whether imposed by the Board of Parole or a Parole Officer, must be obeyed in the same way as the general conditions of parole.

Intensive and Regular Supervision
- Intensive supervision is a status assigned to you immediately upon your release to parole supervision. You will remain in this supervision phase for at least twelve months. During this re-adjustment period, your Parole Officer may be making frequent home visits, and you may be required to make frequent office reports.

- Sexual offenders remain under intensive supervision as long as they are under supervision.

- Most parolees are placed in Regular Supervision after a minimum of twelve months of supervision. You will remain in this supervision status until you receive, if eligible, merit termination, mandatory termination, a three-year discharge or reach your maximum expiration date.

- Under Regular Supervision, you may be reporting less frequently to your Parole Officer and your Parole Officer may be making less frequent visits to your home. Employment verifications will continue to be made by your Parole Officer.

Duration of Supervision
As a general rule, you will remain under supervision until you are discharged from your sentence. If you meet certain criteria, you may be considered for merit termination or mandatory termination of sentence after one, two or three years of unrevoked supervision. If you are eligible, your Parole Officer can seek a review of your case for three-year discharge consideration by the Board of Parole. Otherwise, you will finally be discharged when you reach the maximum expiration date of your sentence or complete your period of post-release supervision.

Your Responsibilities Under Supervision
You are required to adhere to all requirements of your sentence (including any restitution order, order of protection, payment of supervision fees, etc.). Your specific responsibilities are included in the conditions of parole. In a more general sense, you are responsible for obeying the law, remaining sober, and for working with your Parole Officer in a cooperative and open manner. This will enable you to resolve problems you may be having in adjusting to the community. Above all, these difficulties must be handled with your Parole Officer to help you remain a law-abiding citizen and achieve success in the community.

Parole Charges and Waivers
Section 259-a, subdivision 9 of the Executive Law requires every parolee to pay a monthly supervision fee. Generally, the monthly fee is $30.00.

Your Parole Officer will discuss this fee with you, how the fee is to be paid, and in certain circumstances, may be able to waive the fee if you are unemployed or if paying the fee would cause a hardship.

Complaints Against Parole Officers
To make a complaint against a parole officer, contact the officer’s supervisor. If you are dissatisfied with the outcome, contact:

Office of Professional Responsibility
New York State Division of Parole
1220 Washington Ave., Building 2. Albany, NY 12226

Parole Revocation
The Supreme Court has ruled that certain due process requirements must be observed at revocation proceedings. In most cases, a parolee is entitled to a preliminary and final revocation hearing. Although these hearings do not constitute a criminal prosecution, certain minimal due process safeguards are mandated.

Below is a brief description of the process you will go through if you are threatened with a parole revocation.

Investigation
If a Parole Officer receives information suggesting that a person has violated one or more of the conditions of release, he or she will investigate and discuss the situation with a supervisor. If the evidence from the investigation leads the officer to believe conditions of parole were violated, a parole violation warrant may be issued by a member of the Board of Parole or by a designated officer.

Execution of Parole Warrant

When the parole warrant is executed, you will be detained in a local facility or detention center and may not be bailed.

After a Parole Violation Warrant is Issued

Within three days (five days if you are out of state) of the lodging of the warrant, you will then be served with both of the following:

i. The Notice of Violation
   This notice states your rights, and the date, place, and time of your Preliminary Hearing and your Final Hearing.

ii. The Violation of Release Report
   This report notifies you of the rules you are alleged to have violated and the manner in which you violated those rules.

Preliminary Hearing

Within fifteen days of the lodging of the warrant, a Preliminary Hearing must be scheduled unless you waive such a hearing.

Purpose of Preliminary Hearing

The purpose of the Preliminary Hearing is to determine if there is probable cause to believe that you violated a condition of parole.

i. Findings of the Preliminary Hearing
   If there is not enough evidence to suggest you violated your conditions of release, you will be restored to parole supervision.

If probable cause is found at the Preliminary Hearing, or you waive the Preliminary Hearing, a member of the Board of Parole will review your case and decide whether to declare you delinquent and order a Final Hearing or restore your status to parole supervision.

Delinquent Status
You may be declared delinquent in four situations:

i. When there is a reasonable cause to believe that you have absconded from supervision;

ii. When probable cause has been found at a Preliminary Hearing that you violated one or more of the conditions of release;

iii. When you are an alleged parole violator and waive your Preliminary Hearing;

iv. When you have been convicted of a new crime while under parole supervision.

The Preliminary Hearing Officer cannot recommend a disposition in your case. He or she has the limited duty and power of determining whether probable cause exists.

Right to Counsel

There is no absolute right to counsel at the Preliminary Hearing. However, you may appear with an attorney at this hearing. If you cannot afford an attorney, you can request that an attorney be appointed at the beginning of the hearing. The hearing officer will then decide whether or not it is necessary to appoint an attorney. It is highly likely that you will not receive a court appointed attorney for this hearing.

On the other hand, if a Final Hearing is ordered, an attorney will be assigned to represent you if you cannot afford one.

Final Hearing
In order to revoke your parole, the Division of Parole must prove at a Final Hearing, by a preponderance of the evidence, that you have violated at least one of the conditions of release. At this hearing, you have all the rights you had in the Preliminary Hearing, plus you have the right to counsel.

The Final Hearing is held before a Parole Board Member or Final Hearing Officer. A board member or officer makes a decision or, in some cases, a recommendation to the Board of Parole whose members will make the ultimate decision about the revocation.

Convicted of a Crime while under Parole Supervision
If you are convicted of committing a crime while under parole supervision, you forfeit your right to a Preliminary Hearing and possibly the Final Hearing as well.

1. Conviction of a Misdemeanor
   If you are convicted of a misdemeanor, you are not entitled to a Preliminary Hearing but will receive a Final Hearing.

2. Conviction of a Felony
   If you are convicted of a felony, and sentenced to a determinate or indeterminate term of imprisonment, your parole is revoked by law without the need for either a Preliminary or Final Hearing.

Parole Revocation Guidelines
Most violators fall into one of three categories within the guidelines, which describe a sanction or a range of sanctions.

Category One
Includes the following parole violators:

- Conditionally released on a violent felony offense as defined under Penal Law Section 70.02;

- Paroled or conditionally released on an A-1 felony offense;
• Paroled or conditionally released on any felony offense under Article 125, 130, 135, 263, or Section 255.25 of the Penal Law;

• Paroled on any violent felony offense or youthful offender adjudication involving the use, or threatened use, of a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument or the infliction of physical injury;

• Current volatile behavior involving the use, or threatened use of a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument or the infliction or attempted infliction of physical injury, or possession of a firearm, or threats toward Division staff;

A criminal record that includes either a violent felony conviction, or youthful offender adjudication that occurred within the 10-year period preceding the commission of the felony on which the current sentence is based and involved the use or threatened use of a deadly weapon or dangerous instrument or the infliction of physical injury. Any period of time during which the person was incarcerated shall be excluded in calculating the 10-year preceding the act.

Category One Sanction

• The term of imprisonment imposed on sustained Category 1 cases can be no less than 15 months. Some Category 1 cases can be sent to Willard Drug Treatment Center upon consent of the defendant and the Board of Parole.

Category Two

Includes the following parole violators:

• The current conviction is for a felony, other than A-1, defined by Article 220 or 221 of the Penal Law and the sustained violation is for other than a felony committed while on parole;

• The current sentence is based on a conviction other than a Penal Law Article 220 or 221 offense which is neither a violent felony offense nor a Class A felony and the current violation charge is sustained on a Rule 8 drug or marijuana charge, Rule 11 charge or special condition prohibiting the use of alcohol.

Category Two Sanction

All Category 2 violators are revoked and restored to Willard DTC. However, a parole violator may be exempted from mandatory participation in Willard DTC (and moved to Category 3) when one of the following circumstances applies:

- Time remaining on sentence as of warrant lodge date is less than 9 months;
- Felony charges are pending as of Final Hearing date; or
- There is medical or psychiatric ineligibility.

Category Three

This includes any violator that does not fall under Categories 1 or 2. The time assessment imposed on a Category 3 violator whose crime of conviction is a violent felony offense, as defined in Penal Law Section 70.02, is: time spent in custody (at the time of the Final Hearing) plus six months. For a violator whose crime of conviction is a non-violent felony offense, the time assessment, is time spent in custody on the parole violation plus three months.

Persistent Violators

Persistent violators are Category 2 or 3 cases with two prior sustained violations, who upon receiving a third violation (or more), may receive a time assessment not to exceed 12 months.

Certain types of parole violators do not fall into Category 1, 2, 3 and do not receive an established sanction. In these cases, a time assessment or revocation decision is imposed by an Administrative Law Judge or by the Board of Parole. These include:
• Those sentenced to Willard under Section 410.91 of the Criminal Procedure Law (judicially sanctioned);
• Those restored to Willard who fail to successfully complete the 90-day program.
• Under the guidelines, graduates of the Shock Incarceration Program may be revoked and restored to Willard. However, if shock graduates receive a time assessment, the time assessment shall be at least for a period of time equal to the minimum period of imprisonment imposed by the court.

Mitigating Circumstances
Under the new regulations there are five sets of mitigating circumstances which, if demonstrated, allow for a departure from the mandatory penalties imposed on Category 1, 2, and 3 violators.

The mitigating circumstances are:

- The violator is the custodial parent of a minor child and has been the actual primary caregiver for at least 12 months, or since birth or adoption prior to incarceration on the warrant. If restored, the violator has a stable residence and means of support so that he or she would continue to care for the child;

- The violator’s parole supervision prior to the conduct for which the warrant was issued is deemed acceptable by the Division and has a stable residence and prior employment;

- The violator has voluntarily returned to supervision after absconding;

- The violator has a new pending criminal charge and the new charge is being disposed of by referral to any alternatives to incarceration program (ATI). Restoration to parole supervision is conditioned only upon the successful completion of the ATI program; OR

- The violator who would otherwise be a Category 2 violator, but whose medical or psychiatric needs cannot be met at Willard.
If one or more mitigating circumstances apply, violators can be revoked and restored to supervision if the Division has found that:

- The violator’s program needs could be adequately addressed in the community with supervision; and
- That restoration to supervision would not have an adverse effect on public safety.

Parole Restoration of Rights
The Parole Board, in its discretion, may issue a Certificate of Relief from Disabilities or Certificate of Good Conduct. These two certificates have different eligibility criteria, and neither is issued prior to release from incarceration. A certificate may remove mandatory disabilities in general or only those specifically indicated by the Board of Parole. If either certificate is issued for specific disabilities only, the Board may issue a supplementary certificate granting relief from additional disabilities.

Certificate of Relief

Eligibility for a Certificate of Relief
By law you are eligible for a Certificate of Relief if you have not been convicted of more than one felony. For this purpose, two or more felony convictions stemming from two or more separate indictments filed in the same court, prior to conviction any of them, also count as one felony. The Board of Parole may also issue you a Certificate of Relief if you are an eligible offender who has been convicted in another jurisdiction and who now lives in New York State. A Certificate of Relief may be issued upon an eligible individual’s release from a correctional facility or at any time thereafter.
Certificate of Relief effect on Status
A Certificate of Relief may remove a mandatory legal bar or disability imposed as a result of conviction of the crime or crimes specified in the certificate. The certificate of Relief does not, however, enable you to retain or become eligible for public office. Note that removing mandatory legal bars restores your right to apply and be considered for employment or license but does not guarantee it will be granted.

A Certificate of Relief issued you upon release, or once you are on parole supervision, is a temporary certificate. This certificate becomes permanent when you are discharged from supervision. During the time it is temporary, the certificate may be revoked by action of the Board of Parole.

Certificate of Good Conduct

Eligibility to Apply for Certificate of Good Conduct
You are eligible for the Certificate of Good Conduct even if you have been convicted of more than one felony. You do not become eligible for a Certificate of Good Conduct until a minimum period of time has elapsed from the date of your unrevoked release from custody onto parole or from the date your sentence ended.

If the most serious conviction in your criminal history was a C, D or E felony, you must wait at least three years from the date of your last conviction, payment of fine or release from prison onto parole supervision, whichever is later. You will have to wait at least five years from your last conviction, payment of fine, or release from prison onto parole supervision if your most serious conviction was for an A or B felony.

Certificate of Good Conduct’s effect on status
A Certificate of Good Conduct has the same effect as the Certificate of Relief. In addition, the Certificate of Good Conduct may restore your right to seek public office. The certificate may remove all legal bars or disabilities or remove only specific bars or disabilities.
The Certificate of Good Conduct issued to you while under parole supervision is a temporary certificate. The certificate will become permanent upon discharge from supervision. However, during this time it is temporary, it may be revoked by the Parole Board for violation of the conditions of release.

How to submit Certificate Applications

If you have not completed your sentence, you cannot apply directly for a Certificate of Relief of Disabilities or a Certificate of Good Conduct. The application is submitted to the Board of Parole by Parole staff.

If you are anticipating release consideration or are under parole supervision, you should discuss your desire to apply for a Certificate with your Parole Officer.

If you have completed your sentence, you may apply directly to the Department of Corrections and Community Supervision by contacting:

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS AND COMMUNITY SUPERVISION
ATTN: CERTIFICATE REVIEW UNIT
The Harriman State Campus – Building 2
1220 Washington Avenue
Albany, NY 12226-2050
(518) 485-8953

If you were convicted in another state or by a federal court, you may apply directly upon release from custody to the Certificate Review Unit.

Where to obtain information about Certificates of Relief and Good Conduct and about Licensing and Employment

Article 23 of New York Correction Law deals with Certificates of Relief from Disabilities and Certificates of Good Conduct. Article 23A of the Correction Law deals with licenses and employment of persons convicted of criminal offenses. Consult your Parole Officer about specific questions you may have.
Parole Release and Supervision

Problems concerning time calculation
If you have problems with your time calculation, you should first check with the Inmate Records Coordinator (IRC) at the correctional facility where you are presently housed to obtain your official time calculation.

If, after contacting the Inmate Records Coordinator, you believe there is still a problem with your time calculation; a letter should be sent to the Clerk of the Court where the sentence was imposed. The letter should indicate the specific problem and/or what information is being sought. You should request that certified copies of your sentencing minutes and/or sentence jail time be forwarded to the Inmate Records Coordinator to allow for re-computation of your sentence.

How to become “ready” for parole
Parole “readiness” includes several factors. It is important that you demonstrate good prison behavior throughout your period of incarceration. Becoming involved in facility programming offers you an opportunity to improve your education, participate in appropriate treatment programs and acquire skills that will assist you as you transition back to the community.

Character Letters in support of your release for review by the Parole Board
All letters of support should be sent to the Division of Parole Office in the correctional facility in which you are confined. Additionally, any written statement you wish to make should be submitted to the facility Parole Officer in advance of your Parole Board interview. Letters and documents received by Facility Parole staff will be placed in your folder and provided to the Parole Board at the time of your appearance.
How to prepare for a Parole Board Interview

In order to prepare for a Parole Board Interview, you should:

- Begin to collect and organize documentation and/or letters that support your release or offer reasonable assurance of employment or resources in the community;
- Know and understand the purposes and procedures of Parole Board Interviews.

In advance of your Parole Board appearance, you will be interviewed by a facility Parole Officer who will prepare an inmate status report.

- Be prepared to discuss all aspects of your present offense and your criminal history;
- Be prepared to discuss your custodial record, disciplinary history, treatment participation, program involvement and achievements, and your overall adjustment;
- Discuss your immediate plans and future goals;
- Think about what questions you may have regarding the release process;
- Consider statements you would like to make concerning any of the above issues.

Interstate Parole/Paroling to another state

There are two types of interstate parole: Mandatory which means you are paroling to an immediate family member and Discretionary which means you are paroling to a sponsor (girlfriend, fiancé, friend, boss, etc.)

Mandatory

To request a mandatory interstate transfer, you must make this request to your Offender Rehabilitation Coordinator (ORC), just as with regular parole, you must provide the address, relationship to person, others in the household, pets and any weapons that may be in the household. You should also request that the family member you will be living with sends your ORC a notarized letter stating that you can live in their residence and that they are willing to support you financially until you are able to support yourself. Please note that this request can be denied by the receiving state.

Discretionary

Requests for discretionary interstate transfers follow the same procedure as mandatory. For discretionary transfers, you must substantiate that you will be successful in your completion of parole in the receiving state. You should provide your counselor with any letters of assurance you receive from organizations that you will seek services from and jobs you have reached out to. You should also provide details about your relationship with your sponsor, for example, how long you have known them. Please note that failure to show that you can successfully complete parole in the receiving state will result in a denial of your interstate transfer request.

If you are accepted by the other state under the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision, you will need to provide an itinerary of your travel from New York to the receiving state. If you will be taking a form of public transportation, tickets must be purchased prior to your release and your ORC must be provided a copy of them. If your family or sponsor will be picking you up, you must provide a detailed
And a notarized letter stating that they will pick you up and include any places you will stop at on the trip to the receiving state.

Approximately how long will it take to process my request for interstate parole/conditional release?

Each State has different processing times. It could take anywhere from eight (8) weeks to over three (3) months to process an out-of-state investigation request. It is important that all inquiries as to the status of the investigation be made through your Parole Officer.

Appeals and Access to Parole Files

Who is eligible to file an administrative appeal?

An administrative appeal may be filed by an inmate serving an indeterminate sentence in a New York State correctional facility operated by the Department of Correctional Services or by a Juvenile Offender in a facility operated by the Office of Children and Family Services. He or she must have received a determination of the Board of Parole denying discretionary release or a decision rescinding a prior grant of parole. Also, any release who has had his or her parole, conditional release, presumptive release, or post-release supervision revoked by a final revocation determination is eligible to appeal administratively. The process for taking an administrative appeal is outlined in 9 NYCRR Part 8006.

Time limit for the Filing of a Notice of Appeal

There is a time limit. A Notice of Appeal must be filed with the Division’s Appeals Unit located at 97 Central Avenue, Albany, New York 12206 within thirty days of the date that you receive written notice of the Board’s decision. If the appeal is from a final revocation decision, the thirty-day filing period begins when either you or your attorney (if you were represented by one at the Final Hearing) receive a copy of the decision.
How to obtain legal representation in order to complete the appeal
You may obtain private counsel to assist you in completing your appeal. If you can’t afford private counsel, you should contact the closest legal services organization that provides free legal services for indigent inmate, or the County Court in the county where you are imprisoned. You may obtain the name and address of these legal services organizations, or the appropriate court, by contacting your Parole Officer or, if you are in state custody, the inmate Law Clerk of the law library at your correctional facility.

How to perfect an appeal
After you have filed your notice of appeal, the appeal is perfected by filing an original and two copies of your letter of brief with the Appeals Unit of the Division of Parole in Albany. That document should state the specific questions raised on appeal, and why you believe the decision was incorrect. If you are relying on any documents to support your arguments, those documents should be attached to your letter or brief.

Time limit for the perfecting of an appeal
Yes, there is a time limit. An administrative appeal must be perfected within four months of the date on which the Notice of Appeal has been received by the Appeals Unit.

Once the appeal is perfected, how long does it normally take until it is decided?
Perfected appeals are processed in their order of receipt. Once the Appeals Unit receives your letter or brief, it normally takes between 90 and 120 days for the appeal to be reviewed and decided.

If appeal is unsuccessful, is there any other administrative recourse available?
No. All relevant issues should be submitted when you file administrative appeal to make review and determination easier and quicker.
Financial Assistance

“Getting your money in order is a marathon, not a sprint. Sometimes all it takes to win is to keep going.”
-Dave Ramsey
Financial Assistance is available to needy families in many forms as provided by the state and federal government. Eligibility varies by type of assistance.

Social Security Benefits
Federal Social Security Laws and Regulations state that persons serving time for a felony offense cannot receive Social Security or SSI (Supplemental Security Income) benefits. Also, according to New York regulations (18 NYCRR 351.2(k)) the following individuals are ineligible for public assistance:

- Any individual fleeing to avoid prosecution or custody or conviction for a crime or an attempt to commit a crime which is a felony under the laws of the location from which the individual flees;
- Any individual who is violating a condition of probation or parole imposed under federal or state law.

However, once you are released you may be eligible to receive benefits, especially if you were receiving them before your incarceration.

To determine your eligibility for SSI or Social Security, you can either go to your local Social Security office or call 1-800-772-1213 (7AM-7PM business days) for an appointment with a Social Security representative who will help you apply.

How to Apply for Social Security Benefits
When applying, you may need to have the following original documents:

- Social Security card or record of your Social Security number;
- Birth certificate or other proof of age;
- Your spouse’s birth certificate, marriage certificate, and social security number if he/she is applying for benefits based on your income;
- Military discharge papers;
- Your most recent W-2 form, or your tax return, if you are self-employed;

- Proof of U.S. citizenship or eligible non-citizen status

The Social Security office will let you know if other documents are needed when you apply. If you do not have these documents, do not delay your application, the Social Security office will help you acquire the documents.

Temporary Assistance

(Information in this section was obtained from the New York State Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance, www.otda.state.ny.us)

Temporary Assistance (TA) is temporary help for needy men, women and children. If you are unable to work, can’t find a job, or your job does not pay enough, TA may be able to help you pay for your expenses.

Family Assistance (FA)

Family Assistance (FA) provides cash assistance to eligible needy families that include a minor child living with a parent (including families where both parents are in the household) or a caretaker relative. FA operates under federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) guidelines.

Under FA, eligible adults are limited to receiving benefits for a total of 60 months in their lifetime, including months of TANF-funded assistance granted in other states. Once this limit is reached, that adult and all members of his or her FA household are ineligible to receive any more FA benefits. The months need not be consecutive, but rather each individual month in which TANF-funded benefits are received is included in the lifetime count. Parents and other adult relatives receiving FA, and who are determined to be able to work must comply with federal work requirements to receive FA benefits.
As a further condition of FA eligibility, each person who applies for or is receiving FA, is required to cooperate with state and local department of social services in efforts to locate any absent parent and obtain support payments and other payments or property. Non-cooperation without good cause could result in lower FA benefits.

Safety Net Assistance (SNA)

If you are not eligible for other assistance programs, you may be eligible for SNA. SNA is for:

- Single adults
- Childless couples
- Children living apart from any adult relative
- Families of persons found to be abusing drugs or alcohol
- Families of persons refusing drug/alcohol screening, assessment or treatment
- Persons who have exceeded the 60-month limit on assistance
- Aliens who are eligible for temporary assistance, but who are not eligible for federal reimbursement

Recipients of SNA, who are determined to be able to work must also comply with work requirements to receive SNA benefits.

Generally, you can receive cash SNA for a maximum of two years in a lifetime. After that, if you are eligible for SNA, it is provided in non-cash form, such as a two-party check or a voucher. In addition, non-cash SNA is provided for:

- Families of persons found to be abusing drugs or alcohol
- Families of persons refusing drug/alcohol screening, assessment or treatment
- Families with an adult who has exceeded the 60-month lifetime time limit
Emergency Assistance

Emergency Assistance helps an individual or a family member deal with a crisis or emergency situation that is beyond their control. Such needs could include cash assistance with evictions, homelessness, fuel for heating, utility disconnections, or a domestic violence situation.

Examples of Emergency Assistance include, but are not limited to:

- Payment of shelter arrears
- Payment of utility arrears
- Payment of fuel and/or cost of fuel delivery
- Payment of Domestic Violence Shelter costs
- Payment of Temporary Housing (hotel/motel) costs

Payments may be authorized once you are determined to be eligible for one of the following emergency programs:

- EAA- Emergency Assistance to Adults provides assistance for individuals and couples who have been determined eligible or are receiving SSI (Supplemental Security Income)
- EAF- Emergency Assistance to Needy Families provides assistance to families with at least one child under age 18, or under 19 and regularly attending secondary school.
- ESNA- Emergency Safety Net Assistance provides assistance to single adults and childless couples.

You DO NOT have to be eligible for ongoing Temporary Assistance to receive Emergency Assistance

Applying for Temporary Assistance

To find out if you are eligible to receive Temporary Assistance, including help with an emergency, you need to file an application with your county Department of Social Services. NYS Temporary Assistance Hotline: (800) 342-3009.
For Temporary Assistance, your interview should be within seven working days of your filing an application. Within 30 days of the date you filed your application for Family Assistance, you should be told if it has been approved or denied. Within 45 days of the date you filed your application for Safety Net Assistance, you should be notified if your application has been approved or denied.

Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP)
(Information in this section was obtained from the New York State Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance, www.otda.state.ny.us)

HEAP is a federally funded program that issues heating benefits to supplement a household’s annual energy cost. HEAP offers the following benefits:

    -OR-
  - Less than $3,000 if any member of your household is age 60 or older.

Note: The Regular and Emergency Benefit are only available during the winter. Refer to the Department of Social Services for the exact dates of availability.
Furnace Repair or Replacement

The Furnace Repair and Replacement Component of the Home Energy Assistance Program is available to help eligible low-income homeowners repair or replace furnaces, boilers and other direct heating components necessary to keep the home's primary heating source functional.

To receive a benefit, an application must be made in person at the local Department of Social Services and the applicant must receive a determination from the local Department of Social Services that the applicant has met all established eligibility criteria, including established income and resource requirements. Benefits are paid directly to vendors after completion of all work for previously approved applications only.

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
(Information in this section was obtained from the New York State Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance, www.otda.state.ny.us)

Eligibility for SNAP (formerly referred to as food stamps) is determined by household size, income, housing costs, and in some instances, outside resources.

Your household may be eligible for SNAP if:

- You have a social security number
- You are between the ages of 18-60 and are registered for work Your household’s total gross income from all sources is less than 130% of the federal poverty level
- The only people subject to a resource cap are households that have income in excess of 200% of the Federal Poverty level, and who have at least one member of the household who is aged (age 60+) or disabled.
- All other households that pass the gross income test are considered to be categorically eligible, and no longer need to disclose any other resources (except for dividends or interest received, as these are considered income.)
Be advised that part of the SNAP application process entails a fingerprinting of all adult members of a particular family.

For more information on SNAP, and to and to calculate your possible monthly allowance, go to: http://otda.ny.gov/programs/snap/

SNAP Prescreening

The Nutrition Consortium of NYS has administered the Nutrition Outreach and Education Program (NOEP) under contract with the New York State Department of Health. The goal of NOEP is to increase the availability and utilization of federal nutrition assistance programs to ensure better nutrition and reduce the incidence of hunger among low-income populations. In order to achieve this goal, the Nutrition Consortium subcontracts with community-based agencies for more information or for a confidential prescreening, contact one of the NOEP programs near you.

The Essential Plan
The Essential Plan is a new program for eligible New Yorkers enrolling in coverage through the NY State of Health.

The Essential Plan covers all the essential health benefits covered under the Qualified Health Plans offered on the Marketplace, including inpatient and outpatient care, physician services, diagnostic services and prescription drugs among others, with no annual deductible and low out-of-pocket costs. Preventive care such as routine office visits and recommended screenings are free. Eligible consumers will pay either $20 monthly premium or nothing, depending on income. Some plans include additional benefits such as adult dental and vision coverage for additional premium. Enrollment for the Essential Plan is open all year long. To enroll in the Essential Plan, visit: nystateofhealth.ny.gov or call 1-855-355-5777 or TTY: 1-800-662-1220 to enroll or to get free help from a certified in-person assistor near your home or work.

Child Support Payments
New York statutes previously prohibited modification of a child support order if the petitioner’s request related to incarceration, since incarceration was determined to be the result of a voluntary act. In 2010, the state enacted changes to the New York Family Court Act and Domestic Relations Law. This new law specifically states that “incarceration shall not be a bar to finding a substantial change in circumstances” as long as the incarceration is not for nonpayment of support, or an offense against the custodial parent or child. The amendment now allows the courts to modify support orders for incarcerated parents whenever appropriate, preventing accumulation of uncollectible arrears.

Modifying Child Support Payments
You may be eligible for a modification of your New York State child support order if:
  • Either party’s gross income has increased or decreased by 15% or more;
  • Three or more years have passed since the order was entered or last modified;
• Custody of your child has changed;
• Your child has been legally emancipated. For example, he or she works full-time, joins the military, or gets married; or
• You become incarcerated, as long as the incarceration is not due to nonpayment of child support or an offense against the custodial parent or the child.

How to File a Modification

There are a few ways to file:
• Visit the family court where your court order was issued and complete a Support Petition for Modification form (also known as Form 4-11).

• Call or write the family court where your child support order was issued and ask them to mail you the Support Petition for Modification form.

After you complete the petition you should complete the Financial Disclosure Affidavit, sign both before a notary, and mail them back to the court. At the support modification hearing, you may present any evidence you feel will convince the judge to modify your order. If the modification is granted, the court can make it retroactive to the date your petition was filed.

Making Agreements for Payment of Arrears

Besides asking a Judge to modify your child support, you can also contact your local Child Support Enforcement Unit and ask to make a re-payment agreement to address any amount of child support that is in arrears. Once a successful agreement is reached the Child Support Enforcement Unit can lift sanctions.

Resources for Child Support Issues

The Child Support Enforcement Unit has offices in every county in New York and in each borough of New York City.

Housing

“Fair housing is not an option—it’s the law.”
-Carl Harris
Public Housing/Housing Assistance

An individual in financial transition may want to consider public housing that is usually lower cost than the average rent of private housing in the community. To apply for public housing contact the local Housing Authority. According to Housing and Urban Development (HUD) laws and regulations, the Housing Authority may consider an applicant’s past criminal history in the tenant selection process for public housing.

Standards for Public Housing Tenant Selection Criteria
According to §24 CFR 960.205, the Housing Authority may consider “criminal activity involving crimes of physical violence to persons or property and other criminal acts which would adversely affect the health, safety or welfare of other tenants.”

If the Housing Authority does identify an individual with this type of criminal history, they are not legally allowed to automatically reject his or her application. Prior to rejection of an application for public housing, the Housing Authority must also consider evidence of rehabilitation by an applicant with a past criminal history. In addition, the law requires the Housing Authority to give applicants an opportunity (10 days) to dispute both the accuracy and the relevance of the criminal record.

It is important to note that Public Housing Authorities may have access to FBI criminal histories that can include previously sealed records of your criminal history. You should be prepared to explain and discuss such sealed records in the event your application is denied on this basis.

You can be denied public housing while on parole or probation if the crime was committed while you lived in public housing or near public housing.
Housing Choice Voucher Program, (Section 8)

According to the HUD website (www.hud.gov), the Section 8 Rental Voucher Program increases affordable housing choices for very low-income households by allowing families to choose privately owned rental housing. The Public Housing Authority (PHA) generally pays the landlord the difference between 30% of household income and the PHA- determined payment standard (about 80 to 100 % of the fair market rent - FMR). The rent must be reasonable. The household may choose a unit with a higher rent than the FMR and pay the landlord the difference or choose a lower costing unit and have no out of pocket rental expense.

Section 8 housing is available to income-eligible US citizens, immigrants with legal immigration status, and “mixed families” (families with at least one member who is a legal US citizen).

Income Eligibility

Section 8 vouchers are provided to assist very low-income households, such as households already assisted under the Housing Act of 1937 and households with incomes up to 80% of the area’s median income level that qualify to receive a voucher in connection with other HUD programs.

The Housing Authority must provide 75% of its vouchers to those families with a gross income of less than 30% of the median income. The median income level is re-adjusted annually.

For more housing information, contact your local Public Housing Authority.

Employment Discrimination and Job Information

Employment Discrimination Law in General
There is no federal statute designed to specifically protect people with criminal convictions from employment discrimination. However, policies that specifically deny people jobs on the basis of arrests, without conviction, or policies that automatically bar those with a criminal record from employment, are illegal under federal civil rights laws. Since ethnic minorities are arrested and convicted at a greater rate than whites, courts have found that these policies have a racially discriminatory effect. Therefore, in some cases a refusal to hire on the basis of a criminal record may be illegal race discrimination under federal law.

New York State has two laws that protect persons with criminal records from discrimination by employers and occupational licensing agencies: Article 23- A of the Correction Law (§§750-755) and the Human Rights Law (Exec. L. §296(15), (16.))

Discrimination Based on Immigration
The Immigrant and Employee Rights Section (IER), enforces the anti-discrimination provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), 8 U.S.C. § 1324b.

This federal law prohibits: 1) citizenship status discrimination in hiring, firing, or recruitment or referral for a fee, 2) national origin discrimination in hiring, firing, or recruitment or referral for a fee, 3) unfair documentary practices during the employment eligibility verification, Form I-9 and E-Verify, and 4) retaliation or intimidation.

If you feel you have suffered one of these forms of discrimination, click here to file a charge or call our Worker Hotline: 1-800-255-7688.
Discrimination Based on Arrest
The New York State Human Rights Law prohibits public and private employers and occupational licensing agencies from denying (or otherwise discriminating against) any individual a job or license because of any arrest that did not result in conviction (Exec. L. §296(16.)). This law also makes it illegal for most employers and licensing agencies to ask applicants to disclose or discuss any arrest that did not lead to conviction. The law does not apply to police or “peace officer” jobs. Additionally, the Human Rights Law makes it illegal for employers to inquire about an applicant’s disabilities, including his or her treatment for alcoholism or drug addiction.

Discrimination Based on Conviction
If you are applying for a job in a health care or childcare related field:
The Criminal History Background Check Law, as implemented by the Dept. Of Health (DOH), the Office of Mental Health (OMH) and the Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (OMRDD) (and as used in conjunction with Article 23-A of the Corrections Law) took effect in April of ’05. Basically, this law allows DOH, OMH and OMRDD to screen applicants for certain enumerated felonies (mostly violent, but drug-related as well) committed within the past 10 years. These regulations only apply to applicants for jobs in the health care or childcare fields, for the purpose of “protecting” those in society who are “vulnerable” (patients in residential health care facilities, home care agencies, hospitals; kids in day care centers, etc.). The regulations for each of these three agencies differ slightly, but it is important to know that if you are rejected from a job based on a prior felony discovered through the criminal background check process, YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO APPEAL (i.e., to seek reconsideration either formally or informally). An excellent document to have in this situation is a Certificate of Relief from Disabilities or a Certificate of Good Conduct. Additional information can be found at www.health.state.ny.us.
There is no federal statute designed to specifically protect people with criminal convictions from employment discrimination. However, policies that specifically deny people jobs on the basis of arrests, without conviction, or policies that automatically bar those with a criminal record from employment, are illegal under federal civil rights laws. Since ethnic minorities are arrested and convicted at a greater rate than whites, courts have found that these policies have a racially discriminatory effect. Therefore, in some cases a refusal to hire on the basis of a criminal record may be illegal race discrimination under federal law.

New York State has two laws that protect persons with criminal records from discrimination by employers and occupational licensing agencies: Article 23-A of the Correction Law (§§750-755) and the Human Rights Law (Exec. L. §296(15), (16.))

Information for all job applicants:

Although it is legal for employers and licensing agencies to ask individuals about past convictions for criminal offenses, Article 23-A of the Correction Law (§§750-755) protects people from being unfairly denied jobs or occupational licenses solely because of criminal convictions. This law, which applies to all New York State occupational licensing authorities, public employers (except for positions involving members of law enforcement agencies), and private employers of more than 10 employees, makes it illegal to deny any person a job or license because of his or her past conviction(s) unless that person’s conviction(s) are “directly related” to the job in question, or hiring or licensing that person would create an “unreasonable risk” to the safety of people or property.

The factors which must be considered in determining job-relatedness and risk to the public and to property include:

1. New York’s public policy to encourage the licensing and employment of persons previously convicted of one or more criminal offenses;

The specific duties and responsibilities necessary to the license or employment being applied for, and the bearing, if any, that a person’s criminal history will have on his or her fitness to perform these duties and responsibilities;

2. The time which has elapsed since the person’s criminal conduct, and the person’s age at the time of its occurrence;

3. The seriousness of the individual’s offense or offenses;

4. The legitimate interest of the employer or licensing agency in protecting property, specific persons, or the general public; and

5. Any evidence of rehabilitation that a person with a criminal history presents, including a Certificate of Relief from Disabilities or Certificate of Good Conduct.

Whether a particular conviction is “job-related” must be determined on a case-by-case basis. The meaning of “job-related” and standards for implementing the law are still being developed. However, New York law does offer persons with a criminal conviction(s) protection against arbitrary discrimination.

Illegal Pre-Employment Inquiries

The Federal Rehabilitation Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the New York State Human Rights Law all limit the kinds of pre-employment inquiries an employer can make about an applicant’s current or former disability (this includes pregnancy and parenthood). Employers may not ask job applicants about whether they have or had a disability or about the nature or severity of a disability, before a job offer is made. An employer may only ask questions about whether an applicant can perform the duties of the job prior to making an offer of employment.

The Rehabilitation Act’s and the ADA’s definition of a “disability” includes a history of alcohol or drug dependence and HIV/AIDS. Therefore, questions relating to these issues (ex.: “Are you infected with HIV?” or “Do you have a drug problem?”) are illegal pre-employment inquiries covered under these federal laws.

Pre-employment medical examinations are also prohibited by these federal laws. However, after making a job offer to an individual, an employer may make medical inquiries and/or require the individual to undergo a medical examination before beginning work; and the employer may condition the job offer on the satisfactory results of such medical examinations or inquiries. However, this information may not be used in a discriminatory manner by the employer.

The ADA explicitly provides that a drug test (such as a urinalysis) is not a medical examination. This means that employers may require job applicants to undergo pre-employment drug tests and may require employees to submit to drug tests without violating the ADA (although other laws may govern whether and when such testing by employers is permitted). However, if a drug test reveals information about an applicant’s or employee’s disability (for instance, a test may reveal an individual’s participation in methadone treatment and, thus, his history of heroin addiction), it is illegal for the employer to use this information in a discriminatory manner. On the other hand, a test to detect alcohol use is considered a medical examination under the ADA.

Once the applicant has been accepted for employment, the employer may ask about disabilities. This information, however, must not be used in a discriminatory manner when making promotions or other employment decisions.

Incentives for Employers

Tax Credits Available for Hiring Those Previously Incarcerated

The Work Opportunity Tax Credit (WOTC) is a federal tax credit available to employers upon the hiring of individuals from target groups. One of these target groups is economically disadvantaged persons previously incarcerated who are hired within one year of their conviction date or release from prison.

It’s Easy!

- Employers make the hiring decision
- There is no limit to the number of new hires who can qualify an employer for tax savings
- There is minimal paperwork needed to claim the tax credit
Amount of the Credit
The Work Opportunities Tax Credit for hiring target groups other than veterans is up to $2,400 for each new hire. The credit is 25% of qualified first-year wages for those employed at least 120 hours but fewer than 400 hours and 40% for those employed 400 hours (180 days) or more. Qualified wages are capped at $6,000. To qualify, the new hire has been convicted of a felony and has a hiring date no more than one year after conviction.

How to Apply for WOTC
Employers must apply for and receive certification that their new hire qualifies as an economically disadvantaged ex-felon. To apply for certification, employers must:

1. Complete page one of the IRS Form 8850, “Pre-Screening Notice and Certification Request for the Work Opportunity and Welfare-to-Work Tax Credits,” by the date of the job offer, and
2. Complete page two of the IRS Form 8850 after the individual is hired. The employer may also need to complete one of the following documents, as appropriate:
   a. ETA Form 9061, “Individual Characteristics Form,” if the new hire has not been given a conditional certification, or
   b. ETA Form 9062, “Conditional Certification Form,” if provided to the job seeker by a participating agency.
3. Employers mail these forms to:

Federal Bonding Program

The U.S. Department of Labor Federal Bonding Program provides individual fidelity bonds for job applicants who cannot be bonded by an employer’s private bonding company because of a record of arrest, conviction or imprisonment.

A fidelity bond insures employers against any loss resulting from an employee’s dishonesty. Because many employers will not hire people who are not bondable, the Federal Bonding Program allows people with criminal records to be bonded at no cost to the employer.

What You Can Do to Prevent or Address Employment or Licensing Discrimination, If You Have a Conviction Record

Get a Copy of Your Rap Sheet

Make sure you get a copy of your criminal record (rap sheet). Your rap sheet contains information about arrests, arrest charges, convictions, sentences, and more. There are two reasons it’s important to get a copy for yourself.

- You need to be able to present your conviction record accurately to prospective employers. If you have forgotten about a conviction or don’t know the disposition of certain charges, a prospective employer may, once they obtain a copy of your records, reject you for misleading them, even when that was not your intention.

- Arrest and conviction records often contain errors and inaccurate information. It is possible that your rap sheet may contain duplicate entries, or erroneous and incomplete sentencing information. If this is the case, these errors need to be corrected as soon as possible.

Anyone in New York State can obtain their rap sheet by filing a formal “Request for Record Review” with the Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) in Albany, along with a complete set of fingerprints and a $62.25 fee (the fee can be waived if you can prove financial hardship). You can get the “Request for Record Review” form by writing, calling, or emailing DCJS at:

New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services
Records Review Unit
4 Tower Place
Albany, NY 12203
Telephone: (518) 485-7675
Email: RecordReview@dcjs.state.ny.us

When you receive your rap sheet, a “Statement of Challenge” form will be included. This form can be used to ask DCJS to correct any mistakes or problems on the rap sheet.

Remove Statutory Bars with a Certificate of Rehabilitation

Under New York law, you can remove bars to employment and to eligibility for certain occupational licenses by obtaining a Certificate of Rehabilitation. There are two types of Certificates of Rehabilitation: The Certificate of Relief from Disabilities, and the Certificate of Good Conduct.

1. Certificate of Relief from Disabilities
2. If you have only one felony and/or any number of misdemeanors, you may apply for a Certificate of Relief from Disabilities. To apply, contact the original court of conviction or the New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS).

3. Certificate of Good Conduct

If you have more than one felony, you may apply for a Certificate of Good Conduct.

To apply, For Certificates of Relief from Disabilities, you should apply to the court that sentenced you unless:

1. You were sentenced to a New York State (DOCCS) correctional facility, or
2. You were convicted in a federal court or a court in another state and you are now a resident of New York State.

Certificates in these cases are issued by the New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS).
For Certificates of Good Conduct, you must apply to the Department of Corrections and Community Supervision. Once you have decided which certificate you are eligible for, you should apply to the appropriate agency/location.
If you are applying to the DOCCS, fill out and mail an application to DOCCS at

STATE OF NEW YORK

ATTN: CERTIFICATE REVIEW UNIT
The Harriman State Campus – Building 2

You can request an application by contacting DOCCS or you can download it at http://www.doccs.ny.gov/pdf/DOCCS-CRD-Application_Instructions.pdf

If you are applying to the sentencing court, you can get contact information from a telephone directory or at www.nycourts.gov. Do not submit the DOCCS application form to the sentencing court. Courts use a different application form.
Making a Complaint Against or to an Employer
To file a complaint against an employer, contact the New York State Division of Human Rights or consult an attorney regarding the possibility of filing a lawsuit in state or federal court. You can send a letter to the Employer requesting a Copy of your Background Check and the Reason for Denial of Employment. A sample letter is available at http://tinyurl.com/employerletter

Sealing Your Conviction Records

New York’s sealing law, CPL 160.59, allows people who have been convicted in no more than two cases (only one of which can be a felony case) to apply to seal certain conviction(s) from New York, if it has been at least 10 years since their sentencing or release from jail or prison. Only certain convictions are eligible for sealing, and there are other requirements as well.

You may be eligible if:

You have been crime-free for at least 10 years since your conviction and/or release, and

You have 2 convictions or less on your criminal record. This means no more than two misdemeanor convictions OR one felony and one misdemeanor conviction. The ten-year period starts from the date of conviction or release from prison, whichever is later.

You cannot have had any new criminal convictions or have a current criminal case pending.

Courts have the discretion to seal up to two convictions, only one of which may be a felony.

If you have more than 2 convictions, you may still be eligible if your convictions are related to the same one or two incidents. For example, if you were charged and convicted of multiple crimes during one incident, the court may decide to treat the multiple convictions as one conviction. Convictions for the following crimes are not eligible to be sealed:

Sex offense defined in Penal Law Article 130
- Offense requiring registration as a sex offender
- Sexual performance by a child defined in Penal Law Article 263
- Class A felony
- Violent felony defined in Penal Law § 70.02
- Felony conspiracy to commit an ineligible offense
- Felony attempt to commit an ineligible offense

Having a sealed case means that a particular conviction, violation JD or youthful offender conviction will not appear on your rap sheet and employers will have no knowledge of it. However, the records of a sealed violation or youthful offender conviction are never completely erased. The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) always has complete access to your criminal record. Your record may be sealed in New York; however, a federal agency may still be able to access your record. Be advised that there are some local agencies, such as the Public Housing Authorities (PHA), that have access to FBI records and therefore may be able to uncover your sealed record.
Arrests Resolved in the Individual’s Favor
Cases that end in favor of the individual, such as an acquittal, dismissal, or decision to revoke charges, are automatically sealed under Criminal Procedure Law, Section 160.50. Arrests sealed under this law are fully sealed and are deleted from rap sheets sent to employers. Court records concerning the matter are not available to the public, and the court requires police fingerprints or photographs are destroyed or returned to the attorney who defended the particular case.

Arrests Ending in Conviction of a Violation
Criminal Procedure Law, Section 160.55, permits records resulting in a conviction for most violations to be sealed. Effective September of 1980, convictions for violations are supposed to be sealed automatically; however, in some situations, this does not happen. This is another important reason to have a copy of your rap sheet, and to correct inaccuracies.

It is important to note that these records are only partially sealed, meaning that although fingerprints are destroyed and the violation will not appear on your rap sheet, the court records are not sealed. Therefore, an employer has the potential to stumble upon this information if sorting through court records.

Accessing Sealed Records
Sealed records can be accessed by court order, when applying for a job in law enforcement, and when applying for a gun or pistol permit. In addition to the resources listed below, persons seeking employment should consult with their local public library. Many area libraries offer job banks and resume assistance.

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.”
-Nelson Mandela
New York State has selected a new high school equivalency test called the Test Assessing Secondary Completion (TASC™) to replace the General Educational Development (GED®) as the primary pathway to a New York State High School Equivalency Diploma effective January 2, 2014.

The TASC™ is a secure, reliable and valid instrument that is used to verify that examinees have knowledge in core content areas equivalent to that of graduating high school seniors. For additional information visit the NYS Department of Education at www.acces.nysed.gov/what-hsetasc-test.

The TASC includes five sections:
- Language Arts – Reading
- Language Arts – Writing
- Mathematics
- Science
- Social Studies

There are a variety of educational opportunities for continuing education in the Capital District.

- GED programs offer preparation for the High School Equivalency Exam.
- Vocational training programs prepare students for entry-level occupations in a number of different fields.
- Job Readiness programs help individuals improve skills such as preparing a resume, computer training and interviewing skills to become more employable.
- Adult Education Centers offer courses in practical skills at relatively low cost. Counselors assist individuals in selecting appropriate educational programs that best fit their goals and direct people to available funding sources; i.e.: scholarships, grants, and special loans.
- Adult Basic Education courses encompass reading, writing, and math beginning at a middle school grade reading level.
- Literacy programs assist adults in enhancing their reading skills.
- English as a Second Language (ESL) programs provide the opportunity to learn the English language.

If you are not sure which program(s) best fit your needs, please contact the Center for Law and Justice at (518) 427-8361.

If childcare is a concern while you pursue educational or job training opportunities, contact the Capital District Child Care Council at (518) 426-7181.

Financial Assistance for Higher Education
The US Department of Education has the following major financial assistance programs that can be accessed by contacting the financial aid office at any college or university:

- Federal Pell Grants
- Stafford Loans
- PLUS Loans
- Federal Supplemental Educational Grants
- Federal Work Study
- Federal Perkins Loans
- Federal Academic Achievement Grants
- Federal SMART Grant
- School-Specific scholarships

Financial Aid after Conviction for a Drug Offense
The law suspends financial aid eligibility for students convicted under federal or state law for the sale or possession of drugs if the offense occurred during a period of enrollment for which you were receiving federal student aid (grants, loans, and/or work-study).

If you have been convicted of the sale or possession of drugs during a period of enrollment for which you have received financial aid, you should contact FASFA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) to find out if your financial aid eligibility has been affected, at 1-800-433-3243.

Regaining Eligibility
If you lose your eligibility, you can regain eligibility early by successfully completing an acceptable drug rehabilitation program. An acceptable drug rehabilitation program includes two unannounced drug tests and is either:

- Qualified to receive funds from the government, or a state-licensed insurance company.
-OR-

- Administered or recognized by a government agency or court, or a state-licensed hospital, health clinic, or medical doctor.

Even if you are ineligible for federal financial aid, you may still be eligible for non-federal aid from your state or college.

“Our lives begin to end the day we becomesilent about things that matter.”

-Martin Luther King Jr.
According to New York State Election Law §5-106, individuals in jail who have been convicted of a felony, those in prison, or on parole for a felony conviction cannot vote. Referred to as felony disenfranchisement, this means that some persons with criminal convictions are legally prohibited from voting; however, the majority of individuals can and should vote.

New York State Executive Order No. 181

New York State Executive Order 181 restores the right to Vote for New Yorkers on Parole. There is no need to apply. The Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS) submits a list of all individuals currently under community supervision to the Governor’s office, and will send a monthly list of individuals released to community supervision during the prior month.

The following list indicates individuals who are eligible to vote:

- US Citizen over the age of 18,
  - AND -
  - Those convicted of a misdemeanor;
  - Those currently in jail awaiting grand jury action, trial or disposition of a case but not convicted of a felony;
  - Those convicted of a felony who do not receive a sentence of imprisonment;
  - Those convicted of a felony who did receive a sentence of imprisonment; but have completed their sentence.
  - Those on parole who have received an Executive Pardon, “Certificate of Relief from Disabilities” or a “Certificate of Good Conduct”
  - If you meet the above criteria, you may register and vote in an upcoming election.

In July 2010, New York passed the public safety bill (A.B. 9706) that includes a new initiative that requires correctional facilities to notify people of their right to vote upon release. To learn more visit http://tinyurl.com/votingNYS.

How to Restore Voting Rights

The right to vote is automatically restored when you complete your maximum sentence or are discharged by the Board of Parole. While on Parole, if you have been issued a Certificate of Relief from Disabilities or a Certificate of Good Conduct, you may register to vote. To register to vote you must complete a voter registration form and deliver it to your local Board of Elections. Registration forms are available at many government agencies, on the Internet at www.elections.ny.gov/ or by calling 1-800-FOR-VOTE. You do not need to provide a Certificate of Relief from Disabilities or any other documentation about your criminal history in order to register to vote after you have completed your maximum sentence or been discharged from parole.

How to Register to Vote
You may obtain a voter registration form by writing to any Board of Elections and requesting the form. When you receive the form, complete it, and mail or deliver it to the Board of Elections in the county of your permanent address. If you are in jail or prison awaiting grand jury action or trial or confined after conviction for an offense other than a felony, you may register to vote in the county of your permanent address. List the jail or prison address as the place where you receive your mail temporarily.

Voter Registration Dates
You should contact your local Board of Elections office to find out the deadline for registration applications for eligibility to vote in a primary and general election.

How to Obtain an Absentee Ballot
Request an Absentee Ballot by sending a letter to the Board of Elections in the county where you are registered. The letter must be received by your county board no earlier than 30 days and no later than 7 days before an election. The letter must contain the following information:

- The address where you are registered
- An address where the ballot is to be sent
- The reason for the request;
  -AND-
- The signature of the voter.

An Absentee Ballot application and your Absentee Ballot will then be mailed to you. The application form must be completed and mailed with your ballot. Your ballot must be postmarked no later than the day before an election.

Alternatively, you may pick up an absentee ballot application from your county Board of Elections. If you cannot pick up your ballot or will not be able to receive it through the mail on time, you have the right to designate someone to pick it up for you as late as one day before the election. Only the person designated on your application may pick up and deliver your ballot.

How to Fill Out the Absentee Ballot Application

Fill in your name and permanent address where you are registered to vote. If you are detained in jail or prison awaiting grand jury action or trial or confined after conviction for an offense that was not a felony, check the box titled JAIL or PRISON in the section titled “The Reason I am Requesting an Absentee Application.” In addition, in the appropriate section, write the jail or prison address as the location where the ballot should be mailed.

Veterans Benefits

“The willingness of America’s veterans to sacrifice for our country has earned them our lasting gratitude.” - Jeff Miller
Individuals may be eligible for benefits appropriated by the Veteran’s Administration if they were given an honorable discharge from military service. The benefits appropriated to veterans are not usually affected by a person’s criminal history; however, each case is reviewed on an individual basis. To find out more information about veteran’s benefits, call: 1-800-827-1000.

Minority Veterans Program

VA Benefits
Minority Veterans may be eligible for a wide variety of benefits available to all U.S. military Veterans. VA benefits include disability compensation, pension, education and training, health care, home loans, insurance, vocational rehabilitation and employment, and burial. Eligibility for most VA benefits is based upon discharge from active military service under other than dishonorable conditions. Active military service means full-time service, other than active duty for training, as a member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, or as a commissioned officer of the Public Health Service, Environmental Science Services Administration or National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, or its predecessor, the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Disability Compensation
Disability compensation is a monthly tax-free benefit paid to Veterans who are at least 10% disabled because of injuries or diseases that occurred or were aggravated during active duty or active duty for training. VA also pays disability compensation for disabilities from injury, heart attack, or stroke that occurred during inactive duty training. The disability must not be a result of your own willful misconduct, or alcohol or drug abuse.
Veterans with a service-connected disability may also qualify for other benefits, including: Automobile Allowance, Clothing Allowance, Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) or Special Home Adaptation (SHA) Grant, Service-Disabled Veterans'
Insurance (SDVI) and Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment.

Pension
VA Pension provides tax-free monthly benefit to wartime Veterans with limited or no income who are:
Age 65 or older, OR permanently and totally disabled, OR Patients in a nursing home receiving skilled nursing care, OR Receiving Social Security Disability Insurance, OR Receiving Supplemental Security Income.
Eligibility requires least 90 days of active military service, including one day during a wartime period. If your active military service occurred after September 7, 1980, you must have served at least 24 months or the full period that you were called up.

Education
VA education benefits provide financial support for undergraduate and graduate degrees, vocational and technical training, licensing and certification tests, apprenticeships, and on-the-job training. You may be eligible for one or more of the following VA education benefit programs if you meet these requirements:

Post-9/11 GI Bill – at least 90 aggregate days of active service or were discharged with a service-connected disability after serving 30 continuous days, after September 10, 2001.

Montgomery GI Bill-Active Duty (MGIB-AD) – you meet the eligibility requirements for one of four MGIB-AD categories, which include factors such as the dates and length of your service. Generally, benefits are payable for 10 years following your release from active duty.

Montgomery GI Bill-Selected Reserve (MGIB-SR) – have a six-year obligation to serve in the Selected Reserve signed after June 30, 1985 and meet training and attendance requirements. Generally, your eligibility for MGIB-SR benefits ends on the day you leave the Selected Reserve.

Reserve Educational Assistance Program (REAP) - reservists who were activated for at least 90 days after September 11, 2001, for a contingency operation, which includes Iraq and Afghanistan operations. Post-Vietnam Era Educational Assistance Program (VEAP) - certain Service members who elected to make contributions from their military pay to participate.

Health Care
VA Health Benefits include all the necessary inpatient hospital care and outpatient services to promote, preserve, or restore your health. VHA medical facilities provide a wide range of services including traditional hospital-based services such as surgery, critical care, mental health, orthopedics, pharmacy, radiology and physical therapy.

Home Loans
VA guaranteed loans are provided by private lenders, such as banks and mortgage companies, and not by VA directly. Through the VA Home Loan Guaranty Program, VA guarantees a portion of your loan against loss and helps lenders provide you with more favorable financing terms. VA offers the following home loan products and grants:
- Purchase Loan can help you purchase a home at a competitive interest rate. Generally, you do not have to make a down payment or buy mortgage insurance to obtain a purchase loan.
- Cash Out Refinance Loan allows you to cash out your home equity so you can pay other debt, pay for school tuition, or make home improvements.
- Interest Rate Reduction Refinance Loan (IRRRL), also called the Streamline Refinance Loan, can help you obtain a lower interest rate by refinancing your existing VA loan.
- The Native American Direct Loan (NADL) Program helps eligible Native American Veterans finance the purchase, construction, or improvement of homes on Federal Trust Land, or to reduce the interest rate on a VA loan.
- Adapted Housing Grants help Veterans with certain permanent and total service-connected physical disabilities purchase or construct an adapted home, or to modify an existing home to account for your disability.

Insurance
VA offers life insurance programs that provide financial security and peace of mind for Service members, Veterans, and their families. VA provides the following life insurance options at relatively low monthly premiums, which vary by program:

Service members' Group Life Insurance (SGLI) is a low-cost group term life insurance program for Service members. Service members who are totally disabled at separation may extend coverage for up to two years.

Veterans' Group Life Insurance (VGLI) allows Veterans to convert their SGLI to a civilian program of lifetime renewable term coverage after separation from service.

Family Service members' Group Life Insurance (FSGLI) insures spouses and children of Service members with SGLI coverage. Spousal coverage may not exceed the Service member's coverage. Dependent children are automatically covered at no charge.

Service members' Group Life Insurance Traumatic Injury Protection (TSGLI) is an automatic feature of SGLI that provides payments to Service members who suffer severe losses, such as amputations, blindness, and paraplegia, due to traumatic injuries that occur in service.

Service-Disabled Veterans' Insurance (S-DVI) provides life insurance coverage to Veterans whom VA has granted service connection for a new disability within the last two years. Totally disabled Veterans are eligible for free coverage and have the opportunity to purchase additional insurance.

Prisoners’ Legal Services (PLS) provides representation to detained immigrants facing deportation hearings providing critical legal assistance to one of our most vulnerable populations. In one recent case, PLS represented an individual who was wrongly placed in removal proceedings. After presenting the case to an immigration judge, the judge terminated the removal proceeding. After being released, our client was able to reunite with his mother and sister. Without PLS’ help, this person would have been wrongly deported to Jamaica, a country that he left over a decade ago.

Telephone Conversation Partners
Telephone Conversation Partners gives immigrant families who are learning to speak English a chance to improve their English skills by providing a safe, supportive environment for learning. The program pairs volunteer tutors with ESL students who want to increase the duration and intensity of their language learning opportunities. Partners speak over the phone 30 minutes a week for conversation practice. Tutors are trained and provided scripts of scenarios that deal with useful everyday situations. Cultural exchange is a fundamental part and a natural outcome of this program.

Navigating the New York State Prison System

Navigating through the New York State prison system can be a very frustrating experience for many families of incarcerated persons. This section of the directory is intended to provide some information about state offices and other entities that can answer questions and address problems encountered by incarcerated persons and their families.

New York State Prison System

“We must stop the trend of closing schools and building prisons.”

-Gale Sayers
The New York State Department of Correctional Services is the state agency that operates the state’s prisons. The DOCS administration, based in Albany, includes many different offices responsible for a variety of functions.

DOCCS Classification and Movement
Telephone: (518) 457-6022
Provides information on transfers within the system. If you know the person’s DIN (department identification number), you may receive information on his/her custody status by calling the automated New York State VINE (Victim Information and Notification Everyday) system at 888-846-3469.

DOCCS Office of Guidance and Counseling
Telephone: (518) 402-1813
Oversees inmate education and counseling services at all facilities. Each state correctional facility assigns counselors to prisoners. Please call the appropriate facility to speak with an inmate’s counselor.

DOCCS Office of Ministerial and Family Services
Telephone: (518) 402-1700
Serves the religious and family-related needs of incarcerated persons. Maintains visitation programs, including the Family Reunion Program and the free state- sponsored buses to state prisons.

DOCCS Office of Public Information
Telephone: (518) 457-8182
Answers questions regarding all aspects of DOCCS and its operations.

New York State Commission of Correction
80 South Swan St.,
Albany, NY 12210
Telephone: (518) 485-2346
The New York State Commission of Correction is the state agency responsible for overseeing the operations New York’s state prisons and county jails. The COC administration, based in Albany, includes different offices responsible for a variety of functions. Promulgates minimum standards for the management of correctional facilities. Evaluates, investigates and oversees correctional facilities. Assists in developing new correctional facilities. Provides technical assistance.

- COC Investigators
  - Investigate all deaths, in both county jails and state correctional facilities, and reports on the findings. The Commission is also responsible for approving facility standards.

- Medical Review Board
  - Reviews the granting of special medical needs of incarcerated persons at county jails.

State Inspector General

Empire State Plaza, Agency Building 2, 16th Floor, Albany, NY 12223 Telephone: (518) 474-1010

The Inspector General’s Office is entrusted with the responsibility of ensuring that state government, its employees and those who work with the state meet the highest standards of honesty, accountability, and efficiency.
Sex Offender Regulations

“I am a firm believer that upon release, ex-offenders should be afforded a second chance to become productive citizens…”

-Charles B. Rangel
Sex Offender Registration

Sex offender Registration Act and how it is applied

New York State’s Sex Offender Registration Act applies to:

- Individuals who committed certain sex offenses on or after 1/21/1996.
- Individuals who committed an offense before 1/21/1996 if that individual was still serving a sentence of probation, parole or incarceration for a specified offense when the law went into effect.

If you were convicted of a crime requiring registration you will be asked to sign a Sex Offender Registration Form. This form explains your responsibility to register your address with the Division of Criminal Justice Services on an annual basis, provide written notice of any change of address within 10 days of the change, and any other obligations under the law that may pertain to you.

A Court will determine your risk level under Section 168-d of the Correction Law, which controls the amount of information that can be made available about you. The Court’s designation also determines the length of time you must register as a sex offender.

If you ever move to another state, you may be required to register as a sex offender. Your duties to New York State under the Sex Offender Registration Act continue.

If you fail to register or verify your address or other required information with the Sex Offender Registry

If you fail to register or verify, you may be convicted of a Class E Felony. If you are convicted of a second or subsequent offense, you may be found guilty of a Class D Felony. Failure to register or verify may also be the basis for revoking your release status.

Specific Requirements for Sex Offenders

The Sexual Assault Reform Act applies to certain sex offender cases. A mandatory condition of release applies to you if you are a Level 3 sex offender or were convicted of a sex crime on or after 2/1/2001 and are serving one or more sentences for a specified sex offense, and the victim was under the age of 18 at the time of the offense. You will not be allowed to be near or enter upon any school grounds or any other facilities or institutions primarily used for the care and treatment of persons under the age of 18, unless you meet certain criteria and have the written permission of your Parole officer.

What is a Discretionary Sex Offender?

A discretionary sex offender is generally a person who has a history of sexual offense or pattern of inappropriate sexual behavior, but is not subject to the Sex Offender Registry for any number of reasons. If you are determined to be a discretionary sex offender, you will be supervised by the Division of Parole on an intensive basis.
Probation & Conditional Discharge

“Man must live, not only exist; he must do, not merely be; he must grow, not just vegetate.”

-Spencer W. Kimball
An individual is only sentenced to probation when they are either not sentenced to local jail time or in combination with local jail time. An individual who is sentenced to prison time would release on parole. If an individual has their probation revoked and they are resentenced to prison time, their probation is over and if released early or if resentenced with post release supervision, the individual will be on parole. Please see Parole Overview page 2 for more information on parole.

Probation Revocation

Declaration of Delinquency
Any time during a period of probation or conditional discharge, the court may issue a declaration of delinquency if it has reason to believe that the defendant has violated a condition of the sentence.

i. Notice to Appear
The court may order a defendant under a sentence of probation or conditional discharge to appear before it. A notice will either be mailed to the defendant or delivered personally. Failure of the defendant to appear in court after receiving a notice is considered a violation of the sentence.

ii. Warrant
When the court believes that a defendant has violated a condition of the sentence, it may issue a warrant directing that the defendant be taken into custody and appear before the court without delay.

1) Appearance before the Court
When a defendant has been brought before the court for a violation of a condition of probation or conditional discharge, the court will:

- Commit the defendant to the custody of the sheriff (jail); or
- Set bail; or
- Release the defendant on their promise to return for the next court date.
Hearing on Violation

The court cannot revoke a sentence of probation or conditional discharge unless the court finds that the defendant violated a condition of the sentence and the defendant has had an opportunity to be heard in court.

i. Statement of Violation

The court must provide the defendant with a statement that explains the conditions of the sentence violated and a description of the time, place and manner of the violation.

ii. The Hearing

The defendant has the right to a hearing. The judge will conduct the hearing - there is no right to a jury. The defendant has the right to present evidence and cross examine witnesses.

1) Right to Counsel

The defendant has the right to an attorney at all stages of the violation process.

2) Standard

A finding that the defendant violated a condition of the sentence must be based on a preponderance of the evidence.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the court may revoke, continue or modify the defendant’s sentence.

i. Revocation

If the court revokes the sentence, the person may be sentenced to a period of imprisonment according to the original crime of conviction.

ii. Continuation or Modification of Sentence

If the defendant is not found in violation of the sentence, he will be ordered released. If the court finds the defendant in violation, but decides to continue or modify the sentence, the defendant’s term of probation or conditional discharge will be extended up to the time spent on the violation proceedings.
Complaints Against Probation Officers

To make a complaint against a probation officer, contact the officer’s supervisor or the County Director. If dissatisfied with the outcome, contact the NYS Division of Criminal Justice Services, Office of Probation and Correctional Alternatives, Alfred F. Smith Building, 80 S. Swan St., Albany, NY 12210.

Transferring Probation

Information in this part is cited from the Interstate Commission for Adult Offender Supervision Rules, effective June 1, 2009.

The Interstate Compact for Probation is an agreement among the fifty states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the District of Columbia that allows individuals on probation in one state to be supervised in another state. The basic authority for the Interstate Compact is contained in federal legislation originally passed in 1934.

Eligibility for Probation Transfer

At the discretion of the Sending State, an offender shall be eligible for transfer of supervision to a Receiving State, and the Receiving State shall accept transfer, if the offender:

1) has more than 90 days or an indefinite period of supervision remaining at the time the Sending State transmits the transfer request;
   -and-
2) has a valid plan of supervision;
   -and-
3) is in substantial compliance with the terms of supervision in the Sending State;
   -and-
4) is a resident of the Receiving State; or
5) [1] has resident family in the Receiving State who have indicated a willingness and ability to assist as specified in the plan of supervision;
   -and-
6) [2] Can obtain employment in Receiving State or has means of support.
Acceptance of the Offender by Receiving State
A Sending State must submit a completed transfer request with all required information to the Receiving State prior to allowing the offender to leave the Sending State. The Sending State cannot allow the offender to travel to the Receiving State until the Receiving State has replied to the transfer request. It is important to note that a transfer to another state or county is a privilege provided to individuals who are currently complying with their terms and conditions of probation or parole. Both the Receiving State and the Sending State can deny the transfer. For exceptions governing offenders who are residents of living in the receiving state at the time of sentencing, see ICAOS Rules at http://tinyurl.com/interstatetransfer

Victims’ right to be heard and comment
When an offender submits a request to transfer to a Receiving State or to return to a Sending State, the Victim Notification Authority in the Sending State must inform victims of their right to be heard and comment. Victims of the offender have the right to be heard regarding their concerns for their safety and family members’ safety relating to the transfer request. Victims have the right to contact the Sending State’s Interstate Compact Office at any time regarding their concerns for their safety and family members’ safety relating to the transfer request. The Victim Notification Authority in the Sending State must provide victims with information regarding how to respond and be heard if the victim so chooses.

POINTS TO KEEP IN MIND WHEN CONTACTING AGENCIES BY MAIL:

(1) At the top of the first page write your full name and DIN clearly, preferably using all capital letters;

(2) Many of these agencies receive hundreds of letters per month and the following should be avoided to eliminate any delay in responding to your letter: fancy lettering, small print, letters written in pencil, information not pertaining to your issue or need and illegible handwriting.

(3) Also make sure you include detailed information about an incident, your issue or needs along with any questions you have.

(4) If looking for re-entry assistance please include your release date and county you will be returning to.
