RA BOOTCAMP!

The Maloney Library's Research Assistant (RA) Bootcamp will be held on Wednesday, May 30 from 9am – 12pm in room 3-09. We will introduce students to what is expected of an RA, give them an overview of library resources, and show them how to make efficient use of those resources to assist you with your research.

Please RSVP to Gail McDonald by Friday, May 25 with the name and email address of your RA(s) and specific details on the area of research the RA will be focusing on.

HIGHLIGHTS

Need Short Term Research Help this Summer?

The Maloney Library is pleased to announce the Library Research Assistant (LRA) program will continue during Summer 2018. The library has retained two upper level JD students to assist with faculty research projects.

As a reminder, the LRA program is intended to fill short-term research gaps when you have a discrete or short-term project which calls for a research assistant but hiring an RA is impractical. Each faculty member will be limited to 20 hours of LRA assistance.

If you have a project that you think might be well suited for the LRAs, please reach out directly to your library liaison.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY BOOKS DUE MAY 18TH

The Fordham University Library will be sending out an email to each faculty member who has University Library books checked out. Do not ignore this email because if the books are not renewed or returned, the University Library will put a hold on your account. Once the May 18th date passes, the Law Library will not be able to get more books for you from the University Library until the overdue ones are physically returned. Books checked out of the Law Library collection are not included.

The Law Library's Document Delivery department will renew your University books for you. Please forward the University Library email to jfernandez@law.fordham.edu or docdellib@law.fordham.edu and check off the books you want renewed. They will also return any unused books for you. Call your library liaison or the Doc Delivery department (x6902) with questions.
