Dear Congresswoman Ferraro,

You can't imagine how elated I was this afternoon, to hear that you were officially asked by Mr. Mondale to run with him on the Democratic ticket. I had been hoping and praying for this, but to be perfectly honest, I didn't think it would happen.

The good news came at an especially significant time in my life, and has had a very positive influence on some decisions I was in the process of making.

I am presently a part time teller in my neighborhood bank, a wife to a N.Y.C. ^{P.D.} soon to be lieutenant, and a mother of two teenagers. I am also a senior at Marymount Manhattan College, majoring in Speech Pathology and Audiology and minoring in elementary education. Because of financial responsibilities regarding our children's private education and upcoming College Tuitions, I thought it might be best if I put off my own education and worked fulltime for a couple years. It was what I heard you say, and what was subsequently said about you, that changed my thinking and attitude about my decision, and convinced me that it would still be possible for me to continue and attain the goals I've set for myself, and still offer my Children the assistance they need.

Thank you for the encouragement you gave me, and I'm sure many others as well; and even more so, thank you for the encouragement you've given to the American people; and the excitement and energy I'm sure you will bring to the White House.

God Bless You and your family, and God Bless America.

Sincerely
